Criteria regarding eligibility for NRRI Registration & Membership

(This document annuls all previous documents relating to criteria for NRRI membership)

The National Register of Reflexologists (Ireland) is an autonomous institution and applications for membership can be declined or accepted without explanation at the discretion of the Trustees and the Registrar.

General guidelines for eligibility:

1. Graduates awarded diplomas by NRRI Affiliated School are fully eligible.
2. Applicants awarded diplomas by NRRI Accredited schools prior to September 2010 are eligible.
3. Graduates with ITEC Level 3 Diploma in Reflexology (QQI Level 5 / FETAC Level 6) are eligible for membership but are subject to stricter NRRI CPD PROGRAMME requirements during first two years of membership.
4. Applicants who hold other Diploma in Reflexology than mentioned above, but who have been in professional practice for a minimum of three years may be admitted on the basis of an individual review at the discretion of the Registrar.
5. Applicants who hold other Diplomas in Reflexology then mentioned above, but have no professional practice experience may be admitted on the basis of an individual review and assessment at the discretion of the Registrar.
6. Discretionary admissions and refusals do not imply accreditation, approval or disapproval of any school or examining body, and do not constitute any precedent.
7. Full membership is available to registered members who are engaged in professional practice, who have provided evidence of current personal insurance, and who engage in the NRRI programme of Continuous Professional Development (CPD).
8. Full Membership confers accreditation by private health insurance providers (VHI, AVIVA, GLO and LAYA) and a free listing on the NRRI website for referrals.
9. Associate membership is available to registered members who do not wish to engage in full time professional practice but who like to keep in touch and have an interest in the development of reflexology. Personal insurance and the NRRI programme of continuous professional development are optional.
